The screenshot shows the 'Create your own course' interface on the Tootly platform. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the Tootly logo, a 'categories' button, a search bar, a 'Make your own course' button, a 'Cart' button, and a 'Log-in/Register' button. Below this is a teal header with the text 'Create your own course'. The main content area features a question: 'How many days of text message content to you want us to send your students?'. Below the question is a grid of five dark gray rounded rectangles, each representing a day. Each rectangle contains the text 'Day X Upload File Or text', where X is the day number. The 'Day 1' rectangle has two purple buttons labeled 'File' and 'Text'. A callout box points to the 'File' button with the text: 'The file is video, image, or audio. Size must be small enough for MMS.' Another callout box points to the 'Text' button with the text: 'Button UI will look like this'. A third callout box points to the question text with the text: 'Drop down 0-150 days Example: 5'. At the bottom of the screen is a large teal button labeled 'Done'. A final callout box at the bottom states: 'If instructor clicks "or text" let user type 1600 characters'.
